Edge Hill University Medical School [EHUMS] has an ethos of social accountability and community engagement, with the aim of showing students that health and social care does not just take place in NHS premises. EHUMS has been working in partnership with Sefton CVS to provide 2nd year medical students with personal learning about the community context to health and social care. The placement will involve the students engaging with a community project, which would result in recommendations or lasting benefits to the voluntary organisations. Please come along to find out more about how your organisation can become involved with our medical school.

FREE CPR & AED TRAINING
LUNCH WILL BE PROVIDED
